Create and Edit Sections

Last Article Update 17.01.2024

If you own different accounts and cards, it might be practical to create sections for them. This is possible via the George browser version and helps you have a better overview. You could, for example, put all your savings accounts into one section and all your portfolios into another – however it makes sense to you. Try it out and see how this may help you organise your finances.

How to do it

Click the "Customise" Button on the right side of your overview.

Go to "Create a section".

A new section will appear.

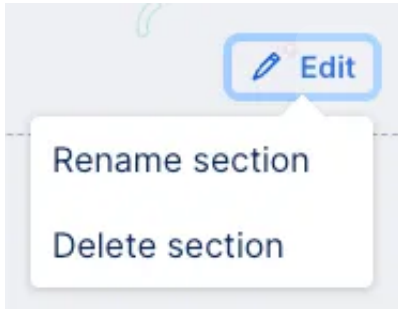

You can then add items to this section via drag and drop.

Via the "Edit" button you can rename the different sections as you like.

You can also delete them anytime.

If you delete a certain section, George will move the contained accounts and cards up to your first section.

There are also many other ways to personalise your George overview. You can change the background, create summary cards or even hide certain accounts or cards from it – just as you want and need.
