Split Now

Last Article Update 13.08.2024

It can make sense to split a credit card payment into several instalments if you have larger expenses but cannot or do not want to pay the entire amount immediately. By using Split Now, you can spread the financial burden and thus be able to handle a larger expense in the short term without using your entire budget.

With Split Now you can split credit card payments over 50 euros up to a total of 4,800 euros into several monthly statements. You pay the first instalment with the current monthly statement, the further instalments are then due the following months.

Fees may apply for the use of Split Now. If so, George will display these charges directly to you when you activate the service.

Please note

Before you make a larger purchase and use Split Now, it's advisable to make a realistic assessment of your own financial situation. This way you can ensure that you can easily manage the partial payments.

If you are unsure or need support, please contact your personal advisor. They can support you in evaluating your financial situation and, if necessary, show you alternative options.

And this is how it works step by step:

App

1

Open the George App and click on the desired credit card in the overview.

- 2 Go to "Functions" and click in the list on "Split Now".
- 3 Klick on the button "New instalment plan".
- 4 If you have payments that qualify for Split Now, George will show them to you.
- 5 George will now guide you through the further steps to split your payment into several amounts.
- 6 Now you just have to sign the action, and the split is done. You now pay the first instalment with the current monthly statement, the other ones with the next ones.

Web Browser

- 1 Select the credit card where you want to split a payment. In the side menu you will find the Split Now function.
- 2 George shows you the payments that are possible for Split Now.
- 3 Once you have selected a payment, you can name this Split Now as you wish so that you know straight away which purchase it is. You will also see any possible fees.
- 4 After your signing, you will get a confirmation that the creation of Split Now was successful.
- 5 If you now click on Split Now in the menu for your credit card, you will see your instalments with all the details. George informs you here about your actual instalments, how many you still have available, when the next amount will be charged and also how much the total open amount is. This way you have everything at a glance.
