How to Open a New Current Account

Last Article Update 14.08.2024

Current accounts are the most important tool to organise your daily financial matters. Sometimes, it can even make sense to have more than one current account. Opening an additional current account can help you keep your finances clear and easy to manage. For example, you can use one account for personal purposes and another jointly with someone else for shared household expenses. A separate account allows for clear distinction between different financial areas and ensures more efficient organisation of your financial matters.

Whether it's your first current account with Erste Bank & Sparkasse or an additional one: here's how to open a new current account.

App

Opening a new current account with the George app

To access the George Store, log in to your George and tap the shopping cart icon (Discover) in the navigation bar of the George app.

Scroll down in the Store until you find the "Accounts & Cards" category. Tap on "Accounts" to view the bank products currently available to you.

Select the desired account you wish to open, such as the popular s Kompakt Konto.

Once you have selected your desired current account, George will guide you to an overview page with information about the account's features, benefits, and terms. Read through these details carefully to understand the options that best suit your needs.

By tapping "Open Now", you will proceed to the configuration of your new current account, where you can make individual adjustments and provide your details.

Step 1: set up

Choose the individual settings for your new current account, such as:

- Regular account deposits and withdrawals
- Optionally linking an existing debit card or ordering an additional debit card

Mandatory legal information

Step 2: summary of your account

Now review the summary of your data. If everything is correct, click on "Next".

Step 3: contract and signing

Here, you can download the drafted contract for your new current account. All documents will also be sent to you by email, provided you agree. After the contract is finalised, you will find it in your George mailbox under "Documents & Requests".

If you agree to the contract and wish to proceed to the final approval, click on "Approve Now". Then, complete the account opening process using your valid signing method, such as George ID.

Congratulations!

By following these steps, you have quickly and easily opened your new George current account. Generally, you can use the new account within a few minutes, and it will also appear on your George overview and product list. If you ordered a new debit card, you will receive it within a few days.

Web browser
