When you're managing many different accounts and cards, it can be difficult to find the right one at first glance. But it doesn't have to be that way. George not only allows you to show and hide accounts or cards in your overview, but also lets you name them in order to better distinguish them from each other. How exactly? Just keep reading and find out.
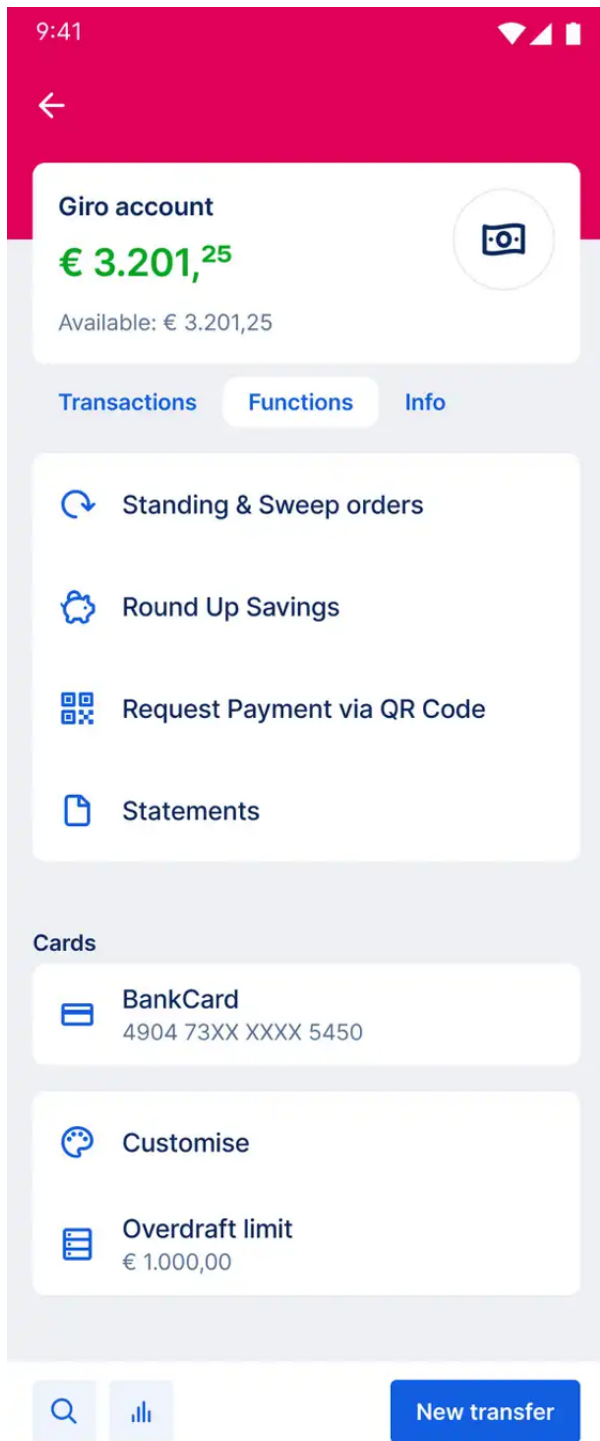

App

Name accounts & cards

Access George.

From your overview, choose the account or card you'd like to (re)name.

Click on those three dots at the bottom of the box.
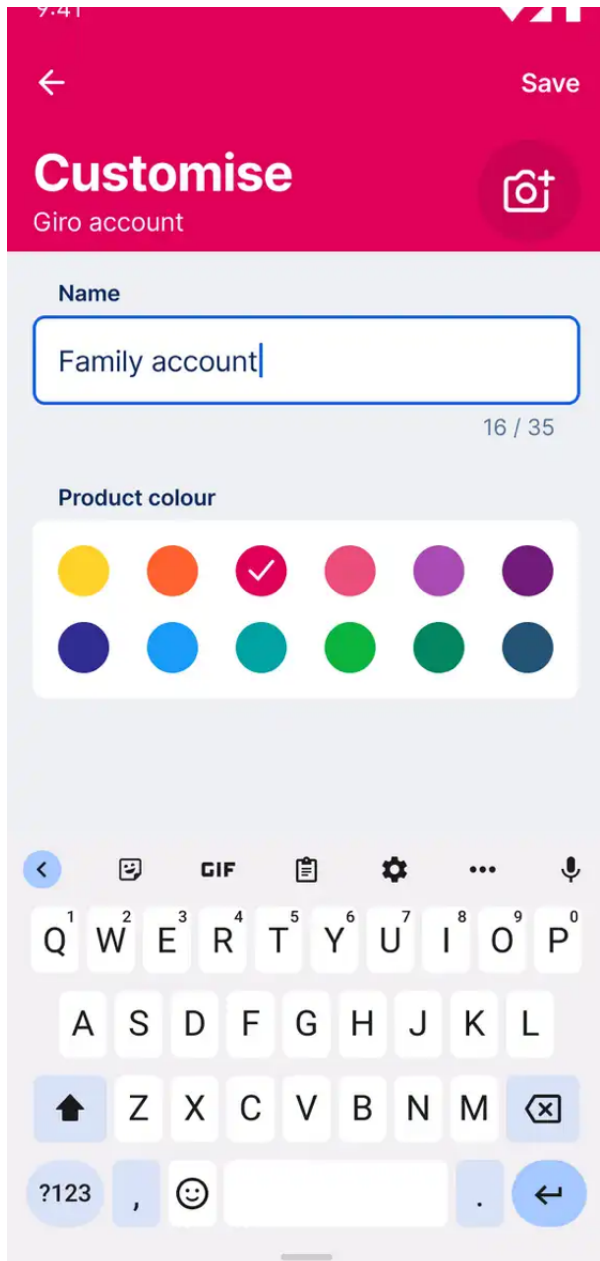

Choose "Customise appearance".

You can also access the "Customise" area via your account's or card's "Functions" menu.

Type in a new name for your account or card.

Click "Save".

The name of your account/card has been changed successfully.

Web Browser

Name accounts & cards

Access George.

From your overview, or via the menu item "Your Products", choose the account or card you'd like to (re)name.

Go to the card/product settings.

Change the name by clicking on the pencil symbol.

Enter a customisable name via the pop-up window.

Click "Save".

The name of your account/card has been changed successfully.

Alternatively, you can also (re-)name accounts and cards directly via the overview by clicking on the three dots at the bottom right of the box. Just click on "Change name", enter a customisable name and save the changes.

Easy, isn't it? This can help you when you have different savings accounts for different purposes or when you share certain accounts or cards with family members or other people.

But changing the name of your accounts and cards is not the only way to personalise your g(e)orgeous banking experience. You can also work with different colours, add a picture or show and hide certain elements to personalise George even more. Try it out and have fun with it.
